

as i breathe water

Modern life is based on efficiency. To survive depends on the place to be.

Jump on the boat agree with the deal. This book is written but the last page is clear.

Increase the pressure it's all matter of the time it takes to pull me on the ground with nothing left but scars and aches.

My lungs they pant for air and nothing seems to ease the pain. I'm out of gas on the brink of going insane.

As i breathe water. Embraced by callousness. It's hard to repress my own collapse.

9 to 5 faceless company. Make or break dead end misery. Led by the barrel of fate. Set in concrete silent defeat.

How can i feel free while trapped by humility? How can i feel free while trapped by humility?

As i breathe water. Held down by callousness. It's hard to repress my own collapse.

We'll make you some time as i did and think about your role to fit into this place our society called.

Do you go sad or are you proud of spending life in a cage that shrinks with a ball and chain tight by your skin.

With common destiny we're going down. Are we made of stone?

creams and dry-writes

Have you ever thought about the fiction of your satisfaction? An illusion of wealth and all the things you've ever dreamed of but gone after a while. Just as long as the stock last. One more step into the ark.

Will you ever leave? That's my concern. Bring it home to you it's your matter too.

The reflective glasses on your nose and your foolish way to pose. To pretend to be-past. You push yourself forward and high above.

Have you ever shown anyone a ounce of respect? Were you ever content? You discontent.

When will you finally end the disconnected lives that you live? Disconnected from humanity. You'll spend your time in hell.

So why the fuck do you try to suppress that your heart is stuck on your success?

The reflective glasses on your nose and your foolish way to pose. Unable to be-past you left yourself up. Without a crown.

jackhammer

Take a look how i keep my own spirit up high. Sure I'll keep on moving with a strength inside. Not to break by pride. I turn a blind eye.

What is left here when the damage is done? What is left when all hope is gone? I'll suffer anymore.

I hold it true all my life. I'll never miss or fear the day that we collide. Keep it up.

I use my skin like a mirror to reflect all the shit you throw into my face dermal encased.

You can't hurt my inside. I wear I'll build up my will just in time.

All my life I'll never miss or fear the day that we collide. Keep it up.

I use my skin like a mirror to reflect all the shit you throw into my face dermal encased.

You can't hurt my inside. Reignite my inner fire. I wear i built up my will just in time. This ladder is way too high for you to climb.
