diptera (Latin: Fly)

when chris, dennis, falk and bas name thier music as "melodycore" is that absolutely not an exaggeration. far from usual sounds, the border between anger outbursts and highly-sensitive sounds that crawl under the skin lies quite close to each other. unusual beats, fat breaks and a strong voice create the original "diptera-sound" and continue to fascinate the public, on stage and on cd. the incredible energetic stage performance of the four musicians from the rhine-main area in germany leave a lasting impression, which is in bad words to describe. this is something you should have seen and heard. after the debut album "diary" will soon come out a new album with a new drummer with promising expectations.
