

The Fine Chairs

sind eine vierköpfige Band aus Hamburg. Ihre Songs zeichnen sich durch einen klaren, puren, manchmal auch rauhen Sound aus, der zu einem großen Teil vom Sound der akustischen Gitarre getragen wird. Unterstützt von einer tighten Schlagzeug - und Bassperformance entfaltet sich viel Platz für eine E.Gitarre, die die Musik von The Fine Chairs in mannigfaltigen Facetten erstrahlen lässt. Alle Songs kommen schnell auf den Punkt und die Stimme von Sebastian Teufel, die manche an Richard Butler (Psychedelic Furs) und Peter Murphy (Bauhaus) erinnert, vermittelt Authentizität und Tiefe. Fans von R.E.M., Liam Gallagher oder Mumford & Sons kommen hier zweifelsohne auf ihre Kosten.

Bisher hat die Band zwei Alben (The Fine Chairs & Sometimes We Find Ourselves in a State of Doubt) und vier Singles (Where Are You Now, Fadin' Away , Down & LIAR) veröffentlicht.

The Fine Chairs sind:

Sebastian Teufel – Stimme, 6 Saiten

Christian Urban– 6 Saiten

Ben David Christian– 4 Saiten

Marcin Kuziel – Trommeln

Reviews:

Down (single)

With its lively nature strongly established, the entrance of the song's charismatic lead vocal performance further strengthens the track's definite sense of character and plays brilliantly off the accompanying music's energy, this allows for some excellent melodic and rhythmic interplay to occur between the track's various elements and ensures the arrangement always feels fresh and thematically strong." Fadin' Away (single)

„The Fine Chairs have released their new rock tune Fadin' Away. Grooving gently with guitars and drums, Fadin' Away features a laid back rock sound tinted with psychedelics. While the groove stays on the subdued side, the jangly instrumental colors and bright vocals cut straight through and imbed themselves in listeners' ears. The solidity of the music and singing gives way for listeners to bask in the waves of sound. Overall, the tune has a stretchy quality that pulls and elongates time. This is especially prevalent in the chorus, which manages to be incredibly catchy while pulling listeners through an intricate colorful weave." RadioIndie Airplay/2022

The Fine Chairs (album)

„The Fine Chairs may consider themselves a pop-rock outfit, but after listening through this debut record, make no mistake – they are much more than that. A fusion of influences and styles, combined with clear musical skill and tied together with well-crafted songs and a distinct lead vocal makes this group far more memorable than many of their contemporaries. If they can keep up the quality and cohesion found in droves on this debut album, we'll have high expectations for this promising, talented new group." Ark Of Music/2021
