

JaegersFolk

JaegersFolk is a German progressive rockband, who does not follow a certain musical structure. The concepts and stories lead the music through different themes and genres. Typically for the band is the versatility. The guitar player and singer Dominik Schorn and guitarist Lukas Scholz have their roots in different genres. They connect blues rock, with jazz, folk and metal.

Timo Michels, songwriter, singer and drummer, has the ability to play and sing in more than one genre. Whether it is jazz or heavy rock. Together with the bassist Felix Scholz he creates a powerful and versatile sound.

Through the keyboard playing of Mailin Michels the stories obtain life and get unique.

February 2020 the band played their first live gig at a contest in cologne and won the first round. The promoter described the show as unique and explained the first place is richly deserved.

November 2019 the band released their first EP „Eisenkopf“ and in July 2020 they release their first single „Konfussion“, which is the first one of an upcoming concept album.
