AKANDO

HOWGH!!!

AKANDO (engl. Ambush) was originally founded in 2014 as a solo project of Cheveyo (engl.: Spirit Warrior). According to legend, he was born in the endless widths of the Great Plains as the son of a powerful chieftain. One day, he had the intuition to take up the traditions and rites of the Native Americans and embed into songs.

Melodic Death Metal crossed with punchy Thrash and Atmospheric Black Metal – That is AKANDO. Powerful guitar riffs with many tempo changes and hymn-like warrior choirs create a gloomy, partly melancholic atmosphere that sends a shiver down the listeners spine. Diverse elements such as animal and nature sounds, shaman drums, flutes and above all, vocal passages in the language of the Native Tribes, give the music an authentic, spiritual character. AKANDO comes with an extraordinary and individual style that definitely appeals to listeners from a variety of metal genres.

Once, the Great Manitu appeared to Cheveyo in a visions and told him about a mission to fulfil. So it came that Cheveyo entered the studio in 2017 to record the debut album "Attack From Ambush" in collaboration with international guest musicians. The recording work has been completed in spring 2018 and about half year later a record-deal with Boersma Records was signed. Afterwards, Cheveyo drummed up his blood brothers Niyol (engl.: wind) and Adahy (engl.: the man who lives in the woods), two braves from allied tribes.

Finally united, the tribesmen are ready to dig out the Metal hatchet and dare the "Attack From Ambush". If you believe the whispers of the ancient voices, as from 2019, AKANDO will rage over the land like a roaring thunderstorm, in order to set stages aflame.

In the name of the Great Spirit,
